Status Report:

- I volunteered to be the team leader of Team #1. All team members agreed to the proposal, so I will be leading the team from here on out.
- I decided to host the team's code, documentation, and website on the GitHub platform as it does a very good job at handling version control, which will be very important during the development phase of the project.
- I got a basic HTML website up, hosted from our GitHub repository. This website will host all of our meeting minutes, also the team/individual weekly reports.
- In addition to our weekly Monday meetings that have been established, I've decided to have a meeting Tuesday to have more time to work on the project plan.
